Message from Dean Ranga Krishnan

Since the inception of Duke-NUS Graduate Medical School eight years ago, I am pleased to report that our Research activities have made great strides. We have attained prestigious awards, hosted world-class conferences & symposia, published extensively in peer-reviewed journals, clinched competitive research funding, registered patents and inventions, and are actively collaborating with several local and international entities. We hope the Research Achievements-At-A-Glance on the next page gives you a quick visual capture of these updates.
